Subject: Senior Back-End Developer Application

Dear [Hiring Manager's Name],

I am writing to apply for the Senior Back-End Developer position with [Company Name]. I have over eight years of experience developing scalable and secure back-end systems and deeply understand the core concepts, both tactical and strategic, of back-end engineering.

As a Lead Back-End Developer with [Current Company], I have been responsible for the migration of key services to microservices architecture and improving our API protocol security with the use of OAuth2 and JWT. I've also guided junior developers and contributed to the building of collaboration culture and continuous learning in my team.

I hope to join [Company Name] where I can contribute toward developing new world-class web applications using my experience and skills. I believe my technical skills set, ability to undertake leadership roles and my passion for working fast and delivering high quality products will make me a great asset to your company.

I appreciate your time and consideration. I am eager to share how I can aid in the overall success of your company.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
